M'KINLEY AND THE CABLE

Sends Message to Congress Asking Prompt Action.

Makes No Recommendation Regarding Method of Construction—Cable Should be Controlled During War.

Washington, February 10.—The President today sent to Congress the following message on the Pacific cable:

As a consequence of the ratification of the treaty of Paris by the Senate of the United States and its expected ratification by the Spanish Government, the United States will come into possession of the Philippine islands, on the farther shores of the Pacific. The Hawaiian islands and Guam being United States territory and forming convenient stopping places on the way across the sea, the necessity for speedy cable communication between the United States and the Philippine islands become imperative.

Such communication should be established in such a way as to be wholly under the control of the United States, whether in time of peace or war. At present the Philippines can be reached only by cables which pass through many foreign countries, and the Hawaiian islands and Guam can be only communicated with by steamer, involving delays in each instance of at least a week. The present conditions should not be allowed to continue for a moment longer than is absolutely necessary.

The time has now arrived when a cable in the Pacific must extend as far as Manila touching at the Hawaiian islands and Guam on the way. Two methods of establishing this cable communication at once suggest themselves.
First, construction and maintenance of such a cable at the expense of the United States Government, and second, construction and maintenance of such a cable by a private United States corporation, under such a safeguard as Congress shall impose.

I do not make any recommendation to Congress as to which of these methods would be the more desirable. A cable of the length of that proposed requires so much time for construction and laying that it is estimated that at least two years must elapse after giving the order for the cable before the entire system could be successfully laid and put in operation.
Further deep-sea sounding must be taken west of the Hawaiian islands before the best route can be selected for the cable. Under these circumstances, it becomes a paramount necessity that measures should be taken before the close of the present Congress to provide such means as may seem suitable for the establishment of a cable system.

I recommend the whole subject to the careful consideration of the Congress and to such prompt action as may seem advisable.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY,
Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., February 10, 1899.

M'KINLEY WILL SIGN.

Made Known His Willingness Regarding the Pacific Cable.

Washington, Feb. 10.—If the construction of the Pacific cable is not authorized by the present Congress it will not be for lack of Administration pressure. The message of President McKinley sent to Congress today marshals the arguments in favor of the construction of the cable, but makes no recommendation as to governmental or private construction.
President McKinley lays particular stress upon the absolute necessity for control of the cable by the Government in case of war, and this seems to lean toward paternalism.

Whether or not this is the outgrowth of his policy for the construction of the Nicaragua canal by the government is still a question, but it is known that within forty-eight hours he has signified his willingness to sign a bill appropriating the necessary funds for the construction of a cable from San Francisco to Manila by way of Honolulu. Wake island and Guam.

Last week the President called for all papers in connection with the cable case, and these were considered by the Cabinet. Later he sent for Mr. Bennett of New York, the author of the pending cable bill, and that conference led to the message of today, than which there could not be stronger argument for the immediate laying of the Pacific cable.

Speaker Reed has consented to recognize Bennett to call up his cable bill at once, and when this is done an amendment will be submitted, providing that the Postmaster-General may receive bids for the construction of the cable by private corporations, in lieu of the subsidy clause providing that the cable shall be of American manufacture, and doing away with subsidies. It is understood that there are three companies ready to bid for the construction of the cable.
